Senate Bill No. 2781

RECEIVED BY:

Introduced by: SENATOR LACSON

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Paragraph (1), Section 5 of Article XIV of the 1987 Constitution provides that "The State shall take into account regional and sectoral needs and conditions and shall encourage local planning in the development of educational policies and programs.

On June 5, 1995, R.A. No. 8047, otherwise known as the Book Industry Development Act of 1995 was enacted into law.

Pursuant to said Book Act, second paragraph of Section 2 states that: "It is hereby declared a policy of the state to promote the continuing development of the book publishing industry with the active participation of the private sector to ensure an adequate supply of affordable, quality-produced books not only for the domestic but also for the export market"

Fifteen (15) years after the passage of said law, shortages of quality textbooks and other educational materials are still perennial problems besetting our student.

Research and discussions with the book industry players and stakeholders revealed that there may be certain developments which hinder the State and the private sector from complying with the above-cited mandate based on the realization emanating from historical records. Everytime a change in administration occurs, rules for the formulation of educational curriculum and the consequent preparation of appropriate textbooks and related materials changes, thus, nullifying developmental efforts not to mention the concomitant huge investments incurred during the preceding administrations.

There is a consensus among the stakeholders that in order to truly come up with sufficient quality textbooks and related educational materials in response to the requirements of our students in the public elementary and secondary schools, it would take at least six (6) to ten (10) years (at least three (3) to five (5) years for research and study and another three (3) to five (5) years for implementation) to develop and jibe with the desired curriculum development.

This bill therefore seeks to remedy that situation by mandating that educational curriculum and the consequent preparation of textbooks and related educational materials should have continuity and stability and that the same should not be changed for a period of at least six years.

For the benefit of million of students who are seeking knowledge, the immediate passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
